E.G.* (2005) 37 Cal.4th 130) for briefing and televised oral argument.

Child custody evaluations, due process. Validity of former Los Angeles Superior Court policy barring custody litigants from cross-examining court-employed child custody investigators, and prohibiting custody litigants from obtaining and presenting evidence of investigator's lack of mental health education and training. Affirmed. (Appellant) Legislature prohibited pre-evaluation waivers of cross-examination after this decision was published.

People v. Moore (1987, 2nd District, Los Angeles) 189 Cal.App.3d 1537
Prosecution's failure to turn over an investigating officer's notes of conversation with defense witness, despite informal agreement between prosecution and defense for complete discovery, was not prejudicial error. Affirmed. (Appellant)

Marriage of Buzzanca (1998, 4th District, Santa Ana) 61 Cal.App.4th 1410
Gestational surrogacy. Husband and wife found to be the legal parents of child conceived during their marriage using donor eggs and sperm, and born after separation to gestational surrogate. Husband denied paternity. Trial court found child had no legal parents. Court of Appeal applied the intended parent doctrine and equitable estoppel to recognize divorcing couple as child's parents. Reversed. (Amicus on behalf of minor child; participated in oral argument)

Marriage of Kelso (1998, 2nd District, Los Angeles) 67 Cal.App.4th 374

Amy G. v. M.W. (2006, 2nd District, Los Angeles) 142 Cal.App.4th 1
 Gender-neutral application of parentage presumptions. Where policy of statutory scheme is based on continuity of child’s family relationships and integrity of marital family, may statutes be construed to make biological parenthood irrelevant for paternity while determinative for maternity?
